

A very small number of corporations already own too many media outlets. I miss the independant radio and TV stations and have noticed a distinct homogenization of stations taken over by the big conglomerates. Please restrict the number of media outlets an individual company can own or control.

Thank you,
Steve Turner